Leadership Directories, Inc. Launches Version 2.4 of The Leadership Library® on the Internet

Improvements include the ability to view and download Best Contact Information for all individuals and find Congressional staff members based on criteria related to the Senator or Representative for whom the staffer works.

New York, NY (Leadership Directories, Inc.) June 15, 2006 – Leadership Directories, Inc. (LDI) announced the launch of a significant upgrade to its premium online database, The Leadership Library® on the Internet. Key features of this release include the ability to view and export the Best Contact Information for all 400,000 individuals in the database, and the ability to locate staff for Members on Congress based on personal or professional attributes of the Senator or Representative.

Best Address is a new feature that includes Best Address and Communications (phone, fax, and e-mail) and offers customers the ability to always download the best possible professional contact information for individuals. Continuing LDI's tradition of combining diligent editorial work with superior technology to provide customers with the most accurate database of personnel contact information available, this feature ensures that customers can always reach the most influential leaders, especially those who are involved with many organizations or active on many boards, committees, or coalitions.

Version 2.4 also introduces the ability to find staff of Members of Congress based on criteria pertaining to the Senator or Representative, such as religion, committee assignment, committee subject, and state or district represented.

"My DC law firm customers are very interested in contacting Members of Congress on behalf of their clients," said Phil Flora, Account Executive for the legal industry at Leadership Directories, Inc. "Being able to find key legislative staffers for members of specific committees enables them to get their client's message through more effectively."
