FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Leadership Directories introduces Leadership Networks™

A new networking database that shows “who knows whom” in the leadership of the United States

New York, NY (Leadership Directories, Inc.) July 11, 2007 – Leadership Directories announces the release of Leadership Networks™, an interactive networking resource that provides a visually compelling, 360° view of extended professional networks throughout the public and private sectors.

Powered by the Leadership Library® database of up-to-date contact information, Leadership Networks™ displays the type and strength of key links and connections among leaders in the United States. The connections are based on criteria such as board relationships, education, career history, and family ties.

“This is a new, exciting way to view leadership in the U.S.,” said David J. Hurvitz, CEO of Leadership Directories, Inc. “Recruiters, fundraisers, sales professionals, government affairs directors, bankers, researchers - they can all use Leadership Networks™ to leverage their connections. It’s a perfect resource for anyone who needs to contact and get a meeting with a hard-to-reach executive.”

Leadership Networks™ subscribers can map a path from person to person in order to target specific individuals or organizations, as well as understand how public and private sector organizations are linked through key individuals. Users can also track new networks that form from executive and board member turnover, promotions, and new hires.
